Keep your profits from leaking out.

We know the food and beverage industry.

Down River® Load Securement Specialists have been helping your industry secure shipments for many years. Besides being the best at bracing food and beverage products, we’ve developed product-protection assessments, customized dunnage, and arrival reports to help make sure your products arrive in the same quality condition time after time. No one else in the business can match our engineering and research-and-development capabilities for safely securing cases of bottles or cans, bags, bulk bins, and drums.

Down River Load Securement Specialists can come to your loading docks, analyze your shipments, and design the most efficient loading diagram and securement solution for you. We can train your employees how to use our products quickly and effectively, minimizing load time.
Down River® G-Force® experts can help preserve your profits in these key areas:

Safety
Properly secured products don’t shift under normal conditions, so loads remain stable. Down River G-Force has a wide range of products that prevent lengthwise and side-to-side shifting.

Ergonomics and Damage Reduction
Down River G-Force Products are light and easy to handle, but very strong. So your employees can brace big loads quickly and easily. Their effective designs help reduce damage to your shipments.

Efficiency
Time is money, and Down River G-Force Products are designed to make securing shipments fast and easy. With our bracing and loading patterns tailored to your shipments and on-site training available, your loading operation can move as smoothly as possible.

Customer Satisfaction
With your customers, their perception is reality. Your reputation rides on every shipment you dispatch. Improperly secured shipments can cause customer dissatisfaction, lowered customer esteem, and lost sales. Down River G-Force expertise can keep your customers happy to do business with you by helping your products arrive in the same condition they left, time after time.

No matter where you are, we’re close by.
With six facilities strategically located to be accessible from all over North America, our products and expertise are never far away.

www.GoDunnage.com
(888) GoDunnage
(888) 463-8662

A broad range of products.
A broad range of industry experience.

Down River G-Force not only has one of the broadest product lines in the business, but our load securement innovations protect shipments for many industries. They’re designed and implemented by a highly trained team of experts in the business to help companies of all sizes to secure their shipments for any mode. That’s the meaning behind “You ship it. We protect it.”

For fast answers on how to protect your food and beverage products, call your Down River Load Securement Specialist today.